LECTURER GIVES FORCEFUL TALK ON "CREED OF FLAG"

Dr. McGowan Outlines Vital Principles of Democracy, at Chautauqua.

Dr. Robert McGowan, a naturalized American citizen of Scotch birth, gave a forceful lecture on "The Creed of the Flag" at the Chautauqua at Leeper Park. His talk was full of sound principles that illustrated the benefits of democracy, as practiced in this country, and was an indictment of government in general.

Previous to his talk, Leeper's Little Symphony Orchestra gave a concert that drew "rounds of applause." The "creed of the flag," declared Dr. McGowan, consists of three things: I believe in the people, I believe in practice, and I believe in progress. By the first, I mean that the government is founded on the constitution which declares in the opening sentence that "We the people" brought it about.

"This is a plain statement that the government is derived directly from the people, and is responsible to the people, as well as the people. And this government is supposed to do three things: provide conditions under which people may work out and create their happiness, provide law that shall crystallize these conditions and place them clearly before the people, and then enforce the law it creates."

Law Necessary. "Unfortunately, law is something that is necessary to hold in check the element among us who would not permit happiness if left unchecked. To the women I wish to bring out one point clearly. The bulk of woman's liberty is law. Teach your children to respect it. When law was overthrown in Russia, unappealing things happened to the women. Remember, conditions would be the same in any country in which order was destroyed."

"Which do you men prefer? A king, a monarchy, or a written constitution? Let me tell you that under no other thing than a written order of government, such as ours, are people granted the same right to work out their happiness."

Dr. McGowan said that in practice he meant the testing and then putting into effect of all that goes to make good government. That does not mean the wild ideas that now come from abroad, he said, "but rather the careful discrimination of matters concerning America's own problems. Put into practice the ideals that have been born and bred in the flag, such as friendliness and a regard for law and order."

If there are any foreigners who are here, he said, let them go back to Utopia, or wherever country they came from and see how much worse it is there. I am a foreign born man and I know."

By believing in progress, he meant the education and advancement of the people, declared Dr. McGowan, "no nation who stops that essential thing can live. Witness how Rome fell as soon as she thought she had learned enough to sit back and merely look for pleasure. Progress to make ourselves better men and women to learn more about the world and to be able to dig to the bottom and ascertain the truth behind the talk. That also includes the realm of art and all the beautiful things of life which will enable us to appreciate the good more and consequently make ourselves better citizens as we leave the world behind."

"By progress we can down the steps of the world, but we cannot because of misunderstanding and greed on the part of both employer and employee," he said.

Gives Conclusions. Previous to Dr. McGowan's lecture, Leeper's Little Symphony, conducted by Harold Lewis, gave a concert which pleased the audience to such an extent that it drew rounds of applause and compelled the musicians to give "Nola" by Arndt, a piece which proved the most popular in the afternoon. As an encore, several compositions of Leeper were included, his famous Indian Ballad, "By the Waters of Minnetonka" among them.

Mishap to Mayor Spoils Otherwise "Perfect Picnic"

City's Leader Temporarily Incapacitated While Umpiring at Club Outing.

The annual picnic of the University club, held yesterday at Grand Beach, Michigan City, proved a success even though Mayor Eli Seebert, official club umpire, was nearly "knocked out" by a flying ball bat. A ball game between Knute Rockne's team and Henry Harper's nine, one of the features of the day's program, was the scene of the accident in which South Bend's mayor nearly "took the count." Dr. Robinson, who was umpiring, was not doing the hurling, swung and missed one of Rockne's fast hooks and accidentally let the bat fly. The bat struck Mayor Seebert in the leg with great force, causing him considerable pain. His injury consisted principally of a bad bruise on the leg. Pitcher Rockne still believes that the bat had instead been meant to strike him and "put him out" as his hurling had been the source of considerable trouble and the opposing team was prepared to go to any extreme to get him out of the pitching box. The game ended with a 10 to 7 score in favor of Rockne's team.

Large Number Attended. About 100 members of the club and their families attended the outing. Games and sporting events featured the program. Golf was the feature game in the morning, when Miss Maude Weber won the ladies' putting contest, and the ladies' winner among the men, Henry Harper was winner of the horseshoe pitching contest. Percy Walsh, the running race, Mrs. George Davies of Chicago, the penny hunting contest, Mrs. A. C. Carline Jr., ladies' running race and Miss Robinson, the "bottle-kicking race."

Luncheon was served under the trees at noon and a dinner was held in the evening at the Gra. Golf course. During the dinner, Miss Josephine Decker gave several vocal solos. Dancing at the Lakeview Casino was enjoyed during the evening. The picnicers made the trip in automobile, leaving early in the morning and returning late last night.

TO TAKE STEPS IN 'BUNCO' CASE TODAY

Jellison Expected to File Affidavits Against Trio Held at Station.

Pros. Atty. Floyd Jellison is expected to file affidavits today against Henry Hosier, Clarence G. Vail and Corinne Vail, his wife, all of whom are now held in the county jail on charges of kidnaping. Jellison's arrest early Tuesday morning when they attempted to flee the city after obtaining $500 from Stephen Kucharic, 924 S. Twelfth st., River Park in a "bogus" partnership for the manufacture of oil burners.

Up to a late hour last night, Jellison had not said what charge he would try the "con" operators on. Charges of obtaining money under false pretenses, defrauding a boarding house, "bunco" steering and technical larceny are possible, but the exact charge he would try will not be known until today.

Local police are inclined to believe that the gang are professionals with records in other parts of the country and an effort is being made to learn something about them. Finger prints and pictures of the three were taken yesterday and copies sent to several other cities.

Railroad bonds, worthless as the result of foreclosure and sale, are among the property of the trio. A contract signed by Kucharic, Hosier and Vail, in which the latter two agreed to post a bond of $1,000 each as security for $200 paid them by Kucharic, is the instrument that will be used in the prosecution.

Three Are Nabbed. The woman was arrested Monday night as she was about to depart for Niles. The two men were found by Detectives Whitmer and Wolter walking along the road near Hudson lake, Tuesday morning. They had quarreled with Kucharic the day before over a board bill which they three are charged refused to settle. Hosier and Vail agreed to make Kucharic a partner in the business of manufacturing oil burners to cooking stoves. The $500 in cash, according to the victim, was obtained by mortgaging his home. A bond, with coupons undeposited since Nov. 1, 1931, was represented as valid collateral, it is alleged, and was given unendorsed to Kucharic as evidence of good faith.

But thus far the investigation has tended to prove the bond is worthless. From information received from brokerage circles, the bonds, of 1932 issue of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad Co. were liquidated when the road was sold at auction, the first mortgage bonds of earlier date only being redeemed. Another bond held by the three is one on the Colorado Midland Railway which recently ended its career when sold as junk and the spikes pulled.

Bonds such as these are declared to not be worth the paper they are printed on. They are, it is understood, kited by crooks at so much per pound.

COURTS MAY HEAR COUNTY FIGHT ON VALUATION BOOST

Montgomery County to Act with St. Joseph in Fight with State Board.

The extent of the discretionary powers of the state tax commission to order horizontal increases in valuation assessments in counties of the state over the heads of the county assessing authorities will probably be tested in the courts of the state as the result of the St. Joseph county board of review refusing to make increases ordered by the tax commission. Just what action will be taken by county officials will not be known until the tax commission acts on the decision of the local board of review.

In refusing to obey the orders of the state commission to add $4,500,000 to the assessed valuation of land in South Bend the local board of review is setting a precedent for the county, but Montgomery county's board of review has taken similar action against an order of the state board. The Montgomery county board of review has flatly refused to carry out recommendations of a horizontal increase in assessments, and in this refusal the board of review is backed up by the Chamber of Commerce of Crawfordsville and the various farmers' organizations of the county, and preparations are already being made to take the case to the courts if the state tax commission attempts to enforce its recommendations by increasing the assessment for the county over the county assessing authorities.

Assessors Best Judges. The stand is being generally taken that local assessors are better judges of land value in their particular districts than the officials of the state tax board. According to the state tax law, the tax commission has the power to order increases in assessments. The fight in the courts will not be a fight against the constitutionality of the state law as much as a fight against the assessment of the state tax commission. The main contention of the county tax board of review is that they are better judges of land values than the state tax commission, and that the courts will uphold their assessments against summary orders of the tax commission to make a horizontal increase in valuation assessments.

Inasmuch as the St. Joseph county board of review's conflict with the state tax commission is the first conflict of that nature that the county has been engaged in, procedure is doubtful, and just what will be done will depend on what the state tax commission does. The state body may ignore the fight, hurried at its authority and not press the matter further, or it may increase the assessment of the entire county. In the latter case in all probability the fight would be carried to the courts. In the particular case of St. Joseph, however, the attempt of the state tax commission to enforce its order by adding a blanket increase of $4,500,000 on the entire county for the board of review to add that increase to assessed valuations of the county is a matter of some importance.

Sheriff Ordered To Collect Fees On Court Actions

84 Divorce Actions "Started and Not Finished"—Fees for Filing Them Unpaid.

A total of 84 actions for divorce, brought in Superior court No. 2 from the time the court was instituted a year ago last April, have not been pressed by the complainants, the cases have now been stricken from the docket, and orders have been issued to the sheriff's office to collect court fees incurred by the filing of the actions by the complainants. In addition to the 84 divorce actions which have been dropped for failure of the complaining parties to press the cases to trial, there are about an equal number of civil actions which evidently have been settled out of court, in which the filing costs have not been paid, and which the sheriff has been ordered to collect.

The issuing of this large number of fee bills to the sheriff of the county for collection is the result of the first "housecleaning" of the docket of the new superior court. All of the cases which have been stricken from the docket, in what is known as the "blue list," have been on the docket for several sessions of the court, and the failure of additional papers to be filed after the original complaint was entered is taken as evidence that an amicable settlement has been reached between the litigants.

The reaching of an amicable settlement did not, however, mean that costs incurred by the court in having these various actions filed are to be paid by the county, and that is the reason the sheriff has now been ordered to collect the fees for the county. The amount of fees due to the county on these cases is approximately $11,000. It is believed that in a big majority of all these "blue list" cases, the failure to pay the costs of the court can be laid to negligence on the part of the complaining party's attorney but the fees will be sought from the person bringing the action, and whether those costs were paid by the complainant to counsel for payment to the court will be a matter between the complaining party and counsel to settle between themselves.

HICKEY SEES GREAT FUTURE FOR CITY

Congressman Predicts Era of Prosperity in Talks Before Local Clubs.

A great and nation-wide era of prosperity was predicted by Congressman Andrew J. Hickey in an address before the members of the Lions and Rotary clubs Wednesday night at the Oliver hotel. Hickey, who has been in South Bend in the last two years seemed only a forerunner of greater development to come.

"It is amazing," he said, "to one who has not visited in this city in the past two years to see the growth that has taken place during that time. In the not distant future I expect to see South Bend the second city in size in the state of Indiana—and you have here the requisites for making it the largest."

An explanation of the working of the tariff bill was first originated, the steps gone through before its completion, and its relation to the every day need of every citizen. The disposition of funds collected through taxation was also discussed, some interesting statistics being revealed.

Separate luncheons and meetings were held by each club. Congressman Hickey, being the guest of the Lions at luncheon. The Lions were entertained with musical selections by Miss Bernice Moore and Miss Greta Edner. Members of the committee provided musical numbers for the Rotary club, after which the two clubs joined in greetings Mr. Hickey.

ABSOLVES OTHERS OF CONNECTION IN "BLACKMAIL" PLOT

Holcomb to Be Taken to Indianapolis by Federal Authorities Today.

Glenn F. Holcomb, 24 years old, McKinley and Fourth sts., Jefferson Heights addition, who was arrested Thursday for participating in a blackmailing plot against William Johnson, of the Ruston apartments, confessed to postoffice inspectors late last night that he was alone in the attempt to blackmail Johnson, admitting that his previous confession implicating two other youths was false. Holcomb will be taken to Indianapolis this morning by federal agents and will be brought before Judge Anderson to answer to the charge of blackmailing.

Admittance had been filed for the arrest of two other youths whose names were given to the police as Holcomb's accomplices. One of whom was apprehended by the South Bend police Saturday noon. The other boy implicated by Holcomb could not be located. Although several suspects were arrested from the description and details furnished by Holcomb, it was held when Holcomb denied they were the ones concerned.

Holcomb was again skilled for several hours by federal inspectors, finally admitting that names and descriptions of the youths who were his partners in the blackmailing were false and done to save himself. Federal agents last night indicated that more severe punishment would be asked for Holcomb because of his attempt to accuse innocent persons.

When arrested Holcomb denied any knowledge of the plot claiming that he was compelled to mail the letter to Johnson to save himself from a beating at the hands of the guilty persons. According to his story at that time, two other youths were the real perpetrators of the plot and compelled him to mail the letter to ward off suspicion.

Holcomb's story was the front story of the case, but he later admitted that he was the person bringing the action, and whether those costs were paid by the complainant to counsel for payment to the court will be a matter between the complaining party and counsel to settle between themselves.
